Northern Plains Tobacco Control Institute

Building Excellence in Public Health Practice

April 21st & 22nd, 2009
Holiday Inn Rushmore Plaza
Rapid City, SD

GOAL

To increase the knowledge and capacity of American Indian tobacco control stakeholders to engage in evidenced based approaches to reduce addictive commercial tobacco use and exposure to secondhand smoke.

OBJECTIVES

- To conduct a two day educational conference that increases knowledge related to the planning, implementation, and evaluation of culturally competent practices that demonstrate promise for reducing addictive commercial tobacco use within American Indian and Alaska Native communities.
- To create a forum that will increase information sharing and problem solving around innovative approaches related the development of: 1) local community tobacco control infrastructure; 2) health care systems treatment of tobacco use and dependency, 3) health communications strategies; 4) youth prevention initiatives; and 5) tribal capacity to interpret and manipulate epidemiological data.
- To increase the number of American Indian/ Alaska Native tobacco control stakeholders that are engaged in and connected to the National Native Commercial Tobacco Abuse Prevention Network.

INTENDED AUDIENCE

The Northern Plains Tobacco Control Institute is intended to increase the knowledge and capacity of anyone interested in working toward the reduction of addictive commercial tobacco use within American Indian/ Alaska Native communities. The ideal participants include but are not limited to: tobacco prevention coalition members, tribal leadership, allied health professionals, health educators, teachers, social workers, and concerned community members.
